Day 1

Etosha National Park

It's time to get your Namibian safari underway. There are just a few formalities before you get started, and we'll have you out on the road and exploring in no time. The wildlife and landscapes that lie just over the horizon mean you have so much to look forward to and it all starts here.

Welcome to Etosha National Park, one of the best national parks in southern Africa, perhaps even in all of Africa. The wildlife here can be incredible, with four of the Big Five (lions, leopards, elephants and rhinos) present and often seen. Highlights here might include the lions near the waterholes, elephants caked in the white Etosha dust, and rhinos by the water near the camps at night. The scenery is also unique, especially the vast salt pans that sweep across the middle of the park.

Halali Camp

Lodge | Inside Etosha National Park

Immerse yourself in everything that's good about Etosha National Park at Halali Camp. The camp is right in the heart of the park, and excellent wildlife viewing is almost guaranteed. The camp even has its own waterhole with a viewing area from where you can watch elephants, rhinos and more. Rooms here are spacious and simple.

Okaukuejo Resort

Chalet | Inside Etosha National Park

At Okaukuejo Resort, there are all types of accommodation, as well as a swimming pool, restaurant, bar and shop; it's almost like a sprawling Namibian village! The location is terrific for exploring the park and seeing its wildlife, but you might even see black rhinos without leaving the property; they routinely come to drink at the resort's waterhole after dark.
